ENTERPRISE RISK MANAGEMENT: MATURITY EVALUATION

ACER INCORPORATED

2024.07.26

SUMMARY

Marsh Risk Advisory Services Department was entrusted by Acer Incorporated (Acer) to review its risk management implementation. The purpose of the project is to review current risk management activities according to the framework of ISO31000 to confirm whether they are in compliance with the content of ISO31000.

To address the above scope, Marsh does the following:

- Compare Acer's current risk management implementation status to ISO31000: 2019 Standard Practice Guide
- Assess the extent to which Acer complies with the company's own risk management policies/ procedures; and
- Proposed detailed and prioritized recommendations on the implementation status of risk management to further improve risk management operations in the future.

The scoring results reflect that Acer has laid a solid foundation for risk management. The overall score results show: "stable operation stage". The stage when Acer's policies and procedures are defined and formally implemented in the company, which represents the operation of the relevant framework in compliance with ISO31000.
